Teacher Comments: What an AMAZING power point! I was so excited by your rich task I had to show every teacher in the Indigo office! You provided not only extensive information on the brain and learning but you presented it in such an engaging way. Well done.

Mary you have included information in all the required areas plus information on brain parts. You achieved above and beyond the expected level in inclusion of information but also in the level and quantity of suggestions made to maximise your learning.

You have obviously spent an incredible amount of effort and time in researching and creating this rich task. It is essential that you reference all your information so that I can see where you have been researching and you are credited with doing that bit extra. Adding a reference page at the end that lists all the websites, handouts and books is one way to do it- otherwise at the end of each slide.

I want to congratulate you on an outstanding and visually impressive assignment. The effort and dedication you have exerted is commendable.

Kellie
